Dear Nursing Colleagues,

In celebration of Nurse Appreciation Week 2012, please accept this token of appreciation for the amazing care you provide every patient, family member, and fellow team member, every day. Without your commitment and dedication to excellent, evidence based practice nursing care, the outcomes for our patients would not be what they are today. The improvements we've made in the past several years through many of our quality initiatives could not have been accomplished without your diligence each and every day while looking for better, more efficient ways to provide exceptional care in this ever changing, ever challenging world of healthcare.

This book ran across my desk last summer, and not thinking much about it, I grabbed it to carry on a plane ride. I began reading, couldn't put it down, and finished it in one sitting. I think this book describes exactly where our culture is in some areas, and where we need to be. I would love nothing more than for our nursing department, as well as our organization as a whole, to move from a culture of accountability to a culture of ownership. However, as you will see in this book, I've realized I alone cannot empower you, you must empower yourself.

During this Nurse Appreciation Week, as we reflect on the celebration of the birth of Florence Nightingale, a pioneer in the field of nursing, leadership and healthcare organizations, my hope for each of you is that you reconnect to the reason we all became nurses, back to the patient. I give you encouragement to care, encouragement to challenge us to seek new innovative solutions, encouragement to hold your leaders accountable to this process, and encouragement to own your practice and your patients' outcomes. Without you, your spirit, dedication, drive, and leadership, the miracles we perform everyday would not be possible. I am proud to serve you, represent you, and lead you. I hope this journey and read inspires you as it did myself and your Shared Governance Representatives.

On behalf of your Nursing Shared Governance Councils and in appreciation for all you do, we offer this to you with our partnership and belief.

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

Please accept this book as a token of appreciation for the exceptional experiences you provide every patient, family, visitor and team member with every interaction you have with them. Without your commitment and dedication to excellence in patient care and experiences, we could not continually improve.

This book describes exactly where our culture is in some areas, and where we need to be throughout Midland Memorial Hospital. It would be wonderful for us to move from a culture of accountability to a culture of ownership, embracing our mission, vision and values. As you will read in this book, no one else can empower you, you must empower yourself.

Our hope is that this book will help you reconnect to the reason we all came to work in healthcare. We offer you encouragement to care, encouragement to challenge us to seek innovative solutions, encouragement to hold each other to our values, and encouragement to own your attitude, skills and knowledge. Without you, the miracles we perform everyday would not be possible. We are proud to serve you. Let this journey inspire you to make a difference in the lives of our patients, their families and our team members.

In the spirit of Florence Nightingale, we offer this book to you. Enjoy it in good health!

Sincerely,

Russell Meyers, President/Chief Executive Officer
Bob Dent, Vice President, Patient Care Services / Chief Nursing Officer

Dear Colleagues,

If Florence Nightingale visited us today, what would she think?

She'd likely be impressed with our modern technology, our impressive facilities and our ability to prevent and treat diseases that were often fatal in her time.

I hope she'd also be impressed with our human touch and the care with which we treat our patients. No matter how many things change, caring for our patients is our "North Star."

This copy of The Florence Prescription is my gift to you. Yes, it's a story about a fictional hospital, but you may recognize some themes and characters. You may, like the characters in the book, see how we could do better.

Whatever role you have in our Carilion family, I hope this book inspires you! Let's put our values of curiosity, commitment, compassion, courage and community into action. Please join me as we embrace the spirit of Florence Nightingale and be a superhero for the communities and patients we serve.

With respect,

Please accept this book as a token of appreciation for the outstanding experiences you provide to every patient, family, visitor, and coworker on a daily basis. Over the past 18 years, we have continuously grown to meet the needs of our community and patients. Within the next year, we will complete yet another hospital expansion! While the steel and bricks will provide us with the adequate space we need to care for our patients, it is the people within that truly deliver and create the exceptional patient care experience.

I believe this book, The Florence Prescription, describes exactly where our culture is in some areas, and where we need to be. I would really love to see our organization move from a culture of accountability to a culture of ownership. However, as you will learn from this book, I've realized I alone cannot empower you; you must empower yourself.

I hope that this book will help you reconnect with the reason we all chose a career in healthcare. As an organization, we need to offer each other the encouragement to care, the encouragement to challenge each other to seek innovative solutions, encouragement to hold one another to our values, and encouragement to own your attitude, skills and knowledge. Without your spirit, dedication, drive and leadership, the miracles we perform everyday would not be possible.

I hope you enjoy reading this book as much as I did, and I look forward to the positive impact it will have on our organization.

Sincerely,

J. Michael Burnett
